What You Need To Know About High Blood Cholesterol

Why Is Cholesterol Important?
High blood cholesterol is one of the major risk factors for heart disease. In fact, the higher your blood cholesterol, the greater your risk of developing heart disease or having a heart attack. Heart disease is the #1 killer of men and women in the United States.

How Does Cholesterol Cause Heart Disease?
When there is too much cholesterol (a fat-like substance) in your blood, it builds up in the walls of your arteries. Over time, this buildup causes “hardening of the arteries” so that arteries become narrowed and blood flow to the heart becomes slowed down or blocked. This may cause chest pain or even a heart attack.

High blood cholesterol itself does not cause symptoms; so many people are unaware when their cholesterol is too high. It is important to find out your cholesterol numbers. Lowering levels that are too high lessens the risk of developing heart disease or dying from it if you already have it.

What Do Your Cholesterol Numbers Mean?
Getting a blood test called a fasting lipoprotein profile will give information about your:

• Total cholesterol—it is desirable to have a measurement of less than 200 mg/dL.

• Low-density lipoprotein (LDL, or “bad”) cholesterol—the main source of cholesterol buildup and blockage in the arteries. It is optimal to have an LDL level lower than 100 mg/dL. (The higher your LDL cholesterol level, the greater your chance of getting heart disease.)

• High-density lipoprotein (HDL, or “good”) cholesterol—which helps keeps cholesterol from building up in the arteries. An HDL of ≥ 60 mg/dL will help lower your risk for heart disease. (The higher your HDL cholesterol level, the lower your chance of getting heart disease.)

• Triglycerides—another form of fat in your blood. Levels that are borderline high (150–199 mg/dL) or high (≥ 200 mg/dL) may need treatment in some people.

Treating High Cholesterol
The main goal of cholesterol-lowering treatment is to lower your LDL level enough to reduce your risk of developing heart disease or having a heart attack.

There are two main ways to lower your cholesterol:

• Therapeutic lifestyle changes (TLC)—includes a cholesterol lowering diet (called the TLC diet), physical activity, and weight management. TLC is for anyone whose LDL is above goal.

• Drug therapy—If cholesterol-lowering drugs are needed, they are used together with TLC treatment to help lower LDL. To reduce your risk for heart disease or keep it low, it is very important to control any other risk factors you may have, such as high blood pressure and smoking.
The Southern Adirondack Independent Living Center (SAIL) recently received the New York State Department of Health contract for the new Health Benefit Exchange Navigator Program. This contract covers the counties of Warren, Washington, Clinton and Essex counties. This program will enroll individuals, families and small businesses with fewer than 50 employees into health care plans. Jocelyn Blanchard, Director of Outreach Services at SAIL will head up this new program. Blanchard and her husband and two children reside in Hudson Falls.

This new program will allow SAIL to offer services to more people in the aforementioned counties. It will promote independence and wellness in the community in an accessible, friendly format. The agents for the program are referred to as Navigators. The Navigators will be independent agents attempting to pair clients with the most appropriate health insurance plan. There will be no incentive to enroll people in any particular plan.

Staff will be available nights and weekends. They will provide services where they are needed and will be knowledgeable about many other community services. Enrollment is scheduled to begin October 1, 2013. Individuals enrolled in October through December will be the first to have active insurance when the various insurance plans go into effect January 1, 2014.

For more information, contact Jocelyn Blanchard at SAIL by phone at 792-3537 or email at jblanchard@sail-center.org. If you have questions or would like a presentation for your group, organization or business, contact SAIL. They can do educational programs on a variety of insurance and disability issues, tailored specifically to your needs.

More about SAIL

SAIL is a non-profit corporation with offices in Ballston Spa and Queensbury that operates under contracts with the New York State Department of Health. They rely heavily on donations for continued operation. With a budget of just over 1 million dollars, SAIL provided over 7,000 Life Filling services in 15 counties of New York’s Capital and Adirondack regions. These services promoted people’s ability to live, work, play and even die in the least restrictive settings with the greatest degree of dignity and independence. The demand for services continues to grow. It is the mission of SAIL to promote the independence, equality and dignity of people with disabilities in all aspects of personal and community life.

Last year SAIL authorized $35 million in Medicaid funding to local businesses and agencies in a nine county area to provide needed services to prevent and avoid institutionalization. This saved New York State more than $4 million and conservatively created 1,250 jobs.

For people with disabilities and their families, Independent Living means knowing what services and supports are available and having the ability to choose the services that are right for their particular situation. It also means taking responsibility for personal choices and actions in order to control your own life. It means taking risks and being allowed to succeed or fail on your own terms. It means participating in community life and pursuing activities of your own choosing.

Services provided by SAIL enable people of any age with disabilities to gain control over their lives through information and referral, assistive technology assessment and loaned equipment, peer counseling, individual and systems advocacy, independent living skills, computer and job readiness training, errand support and voter registration.

In order to help support the mission of SAIL, the Center is holding their Second Annual Harvest Gala at the Holiday Inn in Saratoga Springs from 5:30pm until midnight on Saturday, October 19, 2013. The event will feature live and silent auctions, raffles, cocktails and sit down dinner with dancing to the popular local band “Standing Room Only” featuring Cyndie Wade. Dr. Daniel Way of Hudson Headwaters Health Network is being honored. He is a noted Adirondack physician and photographer. He will give a very interesting slide presentation of his patients and their stories along with some of his more than 1,000 photographs. He will hold a book signing of his published works. For more information, donate a basket or other item for the auction or to volunteer with the event, contact Anna Livingston at SAIL at 792-3537.

Remember, Remember The Eleventh of September (9-11 poem)

Remember, Remember
The Eleventh of September,
The year: Two thousand and one
Never forget the day
That we lost
And they won

Four airliners
Flying at hundred miles per hour
At the hands of self-proclaimed martyrs
Became weapons of mass destruction

People died
That should have lived
Some as heroes, most were victims
Robbed of what could have been

Remember, Remember
The Eleventh of September,
The year: Two thousand and one
Never forget the day,
How we all felt
Not only the horror
Or our justified anger
But how we came together
As one nation
Transformed
Although there had been plenty of warning beforehand
Of the threat that was Usama Bin Laden
Our failure to stop the plot in its tracks
That showed how vulnerable we were to attack
We took the blow
And bounced right back!

A commission followed
There were talks, reprimands and apologies
Leading to the conclusion:
‘Failure to communicate!’
After which we vowed
Never to repeat the mistake

Remember, Remember
The Eleventh of September,
The year: Two thousand and one
Never forget the day,
The week, the world
Joined us in mourning;
Showing we were not alone.
Unity of effort and unity of purpose
Is how we will prevail
Against those who wish us woe
Everywhere
Never forget
The resolve of iron of our nation
The strength we have in our allies
Remember
Not only the loss
But what is yet to be won
The Affordable Care Act and Medicare
William Lane, Ph.D.

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, more commonly referred to as simply the Affordable Care Act (ACA) or Obamacare in the popular press, is clearly misunderstood by many people. There is a great deal of misinformation coming out everyday and the complexity of the ACA makes it much too difficult to discuss in detail in a brief article. Putting aside the political disagreements about the ACA, I hope to clear up some of the major misconceptions about the law while discussing changes that have occurred or will occur in the near future.

First let’s discuss the provisions in the ACA that went into effect prior to this year.

- 2010. Most of the initial provisions enacted under the ACA focused on improving health insurance coverage for those under 65, including such popular provisions preventing the denial of cover because of pre-existing conditions, allowing young adults to remain on family health plans until age 26 preventing insurance companies from dropping your coverage if you are sick and preventing insurance companies from placing lifetime dollar limits on your health coverage.

- 2011. During 2011 Medicare benefits were expanded to include an annual wellness visit and some important preventive care without a co-pay. These major benefits include a free “Welcome to Medicare” preventive visit. To access this benefit you see your doctor within the first 12 months of enrolling in Part B. After this initial visit you will receive a yearly “Wellness” visit to update your health status by having your doctor conduct a “Health Risk Assessment.” You pay nothing for these visits. Among the many other free preventive services are influenza (flu), pneumonia and Hepatitis B (if you are a medium or high risk) immunizations.

- 2012. The ACA began to address the issue of the “doughnut” hole in Medicare prescription drug plans. During 2012 if you fell into the doughnut hole you received a 50% discount on brand-name drugs and a 14% discount on generics. Such improvements will continue until the Medicare Part D doughnut hole is completely closed in 2020.
2013. This year the major change was the continued expansion for access to health insurance but few changes have had an impact on Medicare. The one change was that the discount on brand name drug increased to 52.5% while the discount on generics increased from 14% to 21%. This pattern will continue until 2020 when you will pay only 25% for all drugs once you have met your deductible. Also, insurance carriers must now spend at least 85% of the premiums they receive on care which leaves 15% for overhead and profit. Some of you may have received small checks, usually under $100, in the last few months from your insurance carrier. These are refunds for your portion of the amount they spent over the allowable 15% overhead cap. My check was for about $58.00.

What is going to happen next year? In 2014 the major changes will be for individual and family insurance coverage. The health insurance Exchange (now also called the Marketplace) will begin operation in New York State. Recent estimates indicate that insurance plans purchased through the exchange may save consumers as much as 50% in premium costs. More people will be covered under Medicaid at no additional cost to the State for two years. After 2016 the State will only have to pick up 10% of the cost.

There are some changes that will not happen under the ACA that are worth our attention.
• First, there will be no changes to Original Medicare. This was announced on May 28th Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius.
• Second, we had expected that arrival of the insurance Exchanges would bring about changes in Medicare Supplemental Insurance (Medi-gap) plans. Secretary Sebelius has stated that there will be no changes this year. In the future we may see new plans, more options and lower premiums but everything will remain the same next year. But, for 2014 you will see no changes in your Supplemental policies.

I hope this brief article has cleared up some misconceptions and even fears that some have about the ACA.

STAR Registration Fact Sheet

New legislation requires all homeowners receiving a Basic STAR exemption to register with the New York State Tax Department in order to receive the exemption in 2014 and subsequent years.

This is part of a new initiative to protect New Yorkers against inappropriate or fraudulent STAR exemptions.

Who must register?

Resident homeowners who currently receive the Basic STAR exemption must register with the New York State Tax Department in order to receive the exemption in 2014 and subsequent years.

- Homeowners do not need to re-register every year.
- Based on the information provided in the registration process, the Tax Department will confirm homeowners’ eligibility in future years.

Senior citizens

Senior citizens receiving the Enhanced STAR exemption are not affected by the new registration requirement. However, in order to receive Enhanced STAR, seniors must continue to:

- apply annually, or
- participate in the Income Verification Program.

Resident homeowners applying for STAR for the first time are not affected by this year’s registration procedure. To apply for STAR a new applicant must:

- use Form RP-425, Application for School Tax Relief [STAR] Exemption, available on the Tax Department’s Web site, and
- file the application with their local assessor.

When does registration begin?

Registration will begin August 19, 2013 and continue through December 31, 2013.

- The Tax Department will mail instructions to all homeowners who currently receive the Basic STAR exemption. The letters will include a STAR code that homeowners will need to register.
- Because seniors who receive Enhanced STAR are not affected by the new requirements, they will not receive new instructions from the Tax Department.
How does a homeowner register?

Online registration
The fastest and easiest way for homeowners to register is through the Tax Department’s Web site, www.tax.ny.gov.

Homeowners will need their STAR code to register. In addition to being included in the instructions that were mailed to them, homeowners will be able to find their STAR code through an online lookup or by calling the Tax Department at (518) 457-2036.

Online registration is a simple process that will require homeowners to provide some basic information about their eligibility for the STAR exemption. Homeowners will need to:

- provide the STAR code and confirm the property address
- provide the names and social security numbers for all owners of the property and spouses
- confirm that the property is the primary residence of one of its owners [married couples with multiple residences may only claim one STAR exemption]
- confirm that the combined income of the owners and their spouses who reside at the property does not exceed $500,000
- confirm that no resident owner receives a residency-based tax exemption from another state

Telephone registration – (518) 457-2036
Homeowners who are unable to register online will be able to register over the phone. The Tax Department will also provide telephone support to any homeowners who have questions about online registration.

What happens when homeowners do not register?
The Tax Department will send homeowners additional letter reminders in December 2013 and January 2014.

In February 2014 the Tax Department will give assessors the names of any homeowners who did not register, or who were determined not to be eligible for STAR. The assessment roll entries for these homeowners will not include the STAR exemption.

- Homeowners who the Tax Department found to be ineligible for STAR will have the right to administrative review within the Tax Department, and review before the State Board of Real Property Tax Services.

Convincing an Elderly Loved One to Accept Help

For many aging adults, the progressing years represent a series of increasingly hard-to-handle losses: loss of energy, loss of mobility, loss of hearing, loss of financial independence. These losses gradually chip away at their sense of freedom and can deal a significant blow to their self-esteem.

Combine that with the fact that many well-meaning younger family members unwittingly offer help in a way that reminds their loved ones of their advancing age, and you’ve got a recipe for interpersonal conflict.

The pairing of an elder’s low self-esteem, with condescending communication habits of younger adults is the main reason why older people refuse help and act out when their family members offer to lend a hand, according to Oregon State University professor, Michelle Barnhart.

“When we offer assistance to an aging person, sometimes we do so in a way that challenges their identity as an independent adult,” says Barnhart. “Treating someone as a stereotypical ‘old person’ makes them say, ‘I don’t feel old, why are people treating me like this?’ This can cause serious communication issues.”

Barnhart and her colleagues conducted in-depth interviews with elders, adult children and caregivers in order to examine why aging adults so often reject outside assistance.

They discovered that, when an older adult’s identity is threatened, he or she may lash out—engaging in potentially dangerous behaviors to prove their youth.

4 Ways Elders Retaliate When Younger Family Members Try to Help:

- Hashing it out: Outright arguments are a common way for seniors to express their frustration at being categorized as old. During these exchanges, an elder will try to persuade others that they are not as old, or incapable, as they seem.

- Proving themselves: Mark, one of the interviewees participating in the study, repeatedly offered to help Bea, his 82-year-old mother-in-law, with household maintenance that required a ladder because he was afraid that she would lose her balance and fall. Bea responded by rebuffing Mark’s request, proudly telling him every time she used the ladder to do something.

- Preventing participation: When 89-year-old Abbie’s (another interviewee) cardiologist started addressing her two adult daughters instead of her during an appointment, she banned them from the exam room. "I wanted to grab him by the collar and say, 'Look, talk to me! I'm the patient!'" she says. "But that was easily corrected. They don't go in with me anymore."
• Hiding their indiscretions: After Abbie's daughters tried to get her to stop driving, she would pretend to follow their advice, while secretly driving her sister around.

As a caregiver, your challenge will be to make sure your loved one is safe, healthy and getting the care they need, without overstepping your boundaries, which could cause them to become resentful and resistant to your help.

Here are some Tips for Taking Charge, Without Taking Over:

• Ask what they need help with: If a loved one believes that asking for help was their idea, they may be more likely to accept assistance. If you start off by lending a hand with just those things that your loved one admits to needing help with, they may be more receptive to any future suggestions you have regarding their need for outside assistance.

• Show respect: Respect is the foundation upon which all good relationships are built. Ask your loved one’s permission before rushing in to “save the day.” Even if you really want to sit in on a family member’s doctor’s appointment, inquire about their feelings first. If they don’t want you with them in the exam room, wait outside and talk to their doctor about your concerns once the appointment is over.

• Let them contribute: Even if a loved one does allow you to assist them with a particular task (for instance, folding the laundry), let them pitch in. Doing so may make the process less efficient, but being able to contribute can renew an elder’s sense of purpose and worth.

Remember: safety should always be your ultimate aim. If you have to assume total control of a task to make sure your loved one doesn’t get hurt, it is okay to do so without hesitation.

Joanie Fiore Flanagan’s 2013 Bike MS Begging Letter

Why I Fight MS
I believe that I can do something about Multiple Sclerosis. Life itself is unpredictable, but having MS makes that uncertainty even worse. Imagine dealing with the thought that maybe one day, you will wake up with partial blindness, or your memory will fail you for no apparent reason, or you may not always be able to walk. When I ride or fundraise, I am helping make at least one thing certain—that people with MS will continue to have hope for a cure and finding its cause.

Why I Ride
My husband Bob and I love riding in Bike MS. We focus on fundraising and look forward to meeting our goals and the challenge of riding in the event year after year. Riding in Bike MS is what I can do to prevent more people from learning what it means to live with this disease.

Help me reach my goal again this year
The only thing I love more than riding in Bike MS is when people I know and care about say “Yes, I will sponsor you,” then hand me a check or cash. It makes me know that people out there do want to help create a world free of the baffling disease. It also makes me realize how lucky I am to be able to count on you year after year. Every dollar you sponsor is appreciated, as I strive to be a substantial fundraiser. Last year, through the support of my friends, family and business contacts, I was the top fundraiser for North Country Bike MS. My total for 2012 was over $11,300. Thank you in advance for your continued support. Help me meet my goal of $13,000 in 2013!

The bike ride is Sept 21, 2013 at Burch Hill, Schodak, NY.
Please make checks payable to NMSS, (National Multiple Sclerosis Society) and send to me
