Alzheimer's now affects some 5.4 million Americans; and it is a disease for which there is not only no cure, but no meaningful treatment. That said, it's fundamentally important to embrace the notion that Alzheimer's is a preventable disease.

If you live to be age 85 years, or have already reached that milestone, statistically your risk for Alzheimer's is a breathtaking 50/50. That's a flip of a coin.

The good news is that recent scientific research is revealing that we can choose to change those odds for the better—dramatically!

Exercise is key to keeping your brain healthy

In upcoming articles, I'll be focusing on important dietary changes that can protect your brain, but for now I want to discuss the incredibly powerful role of aerobic exercise. While we all know that exercise makes for a healthier heart and may strengthen our bones, aerobics may well be the most powerful tonic for preserving, and even enhancing, brain health and function.

In a recent report in the prestigious scientific journal, "Proceedings of the National Academy of Science," researchers from the University of Pittsburgh described their results in comparing two groups of people. Each group of contained 60 similarly aged adults. One group was given a stretching program to perform each day, while the second group was given an aerobics program.

At the beginning of the study, all participants had an MRI scan of their brains and a memory test. After one year, the MRI scans that were actually dedicated to evaluating the brain's memory center, as well as the memory test, were repeated in all the participants.

The results were astounding. The individuals who merely did the stretching showed progressive shrinking of their memory centers on the MRI scans, along with a decline in memory function. But, this was not observed in the group that did the aerobics. In fact, the MRI scans showed that there was an actual increase in the size of their memory centers, as well as improvement in memory function!

Lead researcher of the study, Dr. Kirk Erikson, stated in the conclusion of the report, "These results clearly indicate that aerobic exercise is neuroprotective and that starting an exercise regimen later in life is not futile for either enhancing cognition or augmenting brain volume."

If only there were a pill that we could take that could accomplish this! As of this writing, no pharmaceutical remedy for Alzheimer's disease exists. And Alzheimer's begins with both shrinkage of the brain's memory center, as well as progressive failure of memory function.

So, the take home message is to dust off your sneakers and get back in the game. I recommend about 20 minutes of some form of aerobic exercise each day. Whether you choose to walk, bike, jog or swim, the key is to keep your heart rate up for the entire duration of your program.

As always, check with your healthcare provider before starting any new exercise program.
Social Security & Medicare Update
William C. Lane, Ph.D.

Just a reminder that each May, the nation celebrates Older Americans Month to recognize older persons for their contributions to society. This year, we are focusing on injury prevention with the theme Safe Today, Healthy Tomorrow.

In recent weeks the Social Security Administration has announced several changes that may affect beneficiaries of all ages. The trend is clearly toward moving away from services provided at local Social Security offices toward using the website.

First, beginning August 1, 2014 the Administration will discontinue providing Social Security number printouts. If you need proof of your Social Security number and can not locate your Social Security card, you will need to complete a Form SS-5 (Application for a Social Security Card) and provide the required documentation. You can obtain a copy of the form by visiting the website at www.socialsecurity.gov/ssnumber. You will need to provide documents to prove your identity, age and citizenship or lawful immigration status. You can mail your completed form with the original documents to address found on the form. Or you can take the form and documents to the local Social Security Office. For Warren County the address of the Social Security Office is Suite 1, 17 Cronin Rd, Queensbury, NY 12084. The phone number is 1-877-405-4875 and the office hours are 9:00-3:00 (MTThF) and 9:00-12:00 (W). Residents of Hamilton County should check the Social Security website for the closest office or call the Queensbury office for locations and hours of operation.

If you need a benefit verification letter for your Social Security or Supplemental Security Income benefits the best way is now to go online. You will first need to create an account by going to www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount. Once you have created an account you can get the letter instantly. If you are unable to go online you can call 1-800-772-1213 to request a letter. Allow several weeks for delivery. These official letters include proof of your (1) benefit amount and type, (2) Medicare start date and withholding amount, if applicable, and (3) your age.

The most important change for Medicare recipients has to do with a change in New York state and not Federal Medicare law. The change concerns being placed on observational status when admitted to a hospital. In order to be classified as admitted to a hospital, a Medicare beneficiary must spend three consecutive days in a hospital, not counting the day of discharge. This three day stay is necessary to qualify for subsequent coverage for a nursing-home stay including a short stay for rehabilitation. Also, if you are discharged while on observational status you may be charged for any medications you receive for pre-existing health problems. Medicare drug plans are not required to reimburse you for these drug costs.

On January 19, 2014 New York’s Observation Status Law went into effect. All hospitals are now required to notify Medicare patients when they are placed on observational status instead of within 24 hours of when the billing decision was made. If you are alerted by the hospital that you are on observational status you should immediately contact your insurance company to determine if all your hospital charges will be covered. This information is crucial because Medicare Part A will only pay for the cost of rehabilitation in a nursing home setting if you have actually been admitted for 3 days. If you have any questions you should call the Warren/Hamilton Counties Office for the Aging HIICAP program at 518-761-6347. You can also call the Medicare Patient’s Rights Helpline operated by the New York StateWide Senior Action Council at 1-800-333-4374. Counselors at both numbers will assist you and, if necessary, help you file an appeal to have your status formally changed. Also, do not hesitate to request assistance from one of the social workers on staff at all hospitals.

Finally, the HIICAP program will be doing extensive outreach later this summer to make eligible County residents aware of two programs, the Low-Income Subsidy (LIS) and Medicare Saving Programs (MSP). Eligible County residents can receive significant assistance in paying for their Medicare premiums and other related costs through these programs. Next month’s column will be devoted to this effort and these two programs.

Roasted Asparagus with Balsamic-Butter Sauce

As spring approaches, the produce section starts to get interesting again! Right now that means buying bunches of those beautiful asparagus spears when you find them on sale. They’ll be at their peak through May. Wait for a good price (around $1-$1.75/lb.), add it to your grocery cart, and plan to include this great side dish to your spring recipe rotation. It’s ridiculously fast and easy to prepare and delicious to eat.

1 bunch fresh asparagus, washed, dried, and trimmed*
• olive oil
• salt & pepper, to taste
• 2 T. butter
• 2 t. soy sauce
• 1 t. balsamic vinegar

♦ Preheat the oven to 400-degrees.
♦ Arrange the asparagus on a rimmed baking sheet. Coat lightly with olive oil and season with salt & pepper (I just toss it together with my hands— a bit messy but much easier).
♦ Bake the asparagus for 10-12 minutes or until tender.

Melt the butter in a small saucepan over medium heat until lightly browned. Remove from heat and stir in the soy sauce and balsamic vinegar. Pour over the baked asparagus to serve.

* Hold each asparagus spear between your fingers and snap off 1-2” from the base. The spear will naturally break at the point where it becomes tough. Discard tough ends.

Making Physical Activity a Part of Your Life

Spring Back Into Your Exercise Program:

Springtime weather tends to be ideal for outdoor exercise:

warm enough to wear light clothing, but cool enough to keep you comfortable during light-to-moderate exercise.

When it comes to getting the physical activity you need each week, it’s important to pick activities you enjoy and that match your abilities. This will help ensure that you stick with them.

Things to keep in mind

• Try to do a variety of activities. This can make physical activity more enjoyable and reduce your risk of injury.

• Regular physical activity is still safe and beneficial even if you have problems doing normal daily activities, such as climbing stairs or walking.

• To get to and stay at a healthy weight, start by doing the equivalent of 150 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic activity each week. Keep in mind that you may need to do more activity or reduce the number of calories you eat to get to your desired weight.

Improving Your balance - Are you at risk for falling because you’ve fallen in the past or have trouble walking? Older adults who are at risk for falling should do exercises that help them with balance. Try to do balance training on at least 3 days a week and do standardized exercises from a program that’s been proven to reduce falls. These exercises might include backward walking, sideways walking, heel walking, toe walking, and practicing standing from a sitting position. Tai chi, a form of martial arts developed in China, may also help with balance. Balance training - Check with your local senior center to see if they offer balance training or tai chi classes.

What if you have a chronic condition? - If you have a health condition such as arthritis, diabetes, or heart disease it doesn't mean you can't be active. In fact, it's just the opposite. Regular physical activity can improve your quality of life and even reduce your risk of developing other conditions. What's important is that you avoid being inactive. Even 60 minutes a week of moderate-intensity aerobic activity is good for you. Talk with your doctor to find out if your health condition limits, in any way, your ability to be active.

What if you have a disability?

If you are an older adult with a disability, regular physical activity can provide you with important health benefits, like a stronger heart, lungs and muscles, improved mental health and a better ability to do everyday tasks. It's best to talk with your health care provider before you begin a physical activity routine. Try to get advice from a professional with experience in physical activity and disability.

When to check with your doctor - Doing activity that requires moderate effort is safe for most people, but if you have a health condition such as heart disease, arthritis, or diabetes be sure to talk with your doctor about the types and amounts of physical activity that are right for you.

Guide to Spring Fruits and Vegetables

One way to significantly reduce your grocery bill each month is to create your menu plans around produce that is currently in season for your area.

Healthful eating is never as easy as it is in the spring. With fresh fruits and vegetables flourishing, you only need minimal preparation to bring out maximum flavor. From salads to sides, entrées to desserts.

Spring Fruits and Veggies:
- Artichokes
- Arugula
- Asparagus
- Broccoli
- Cabbage
- Carrots
- Fava Beans
- Fiddlehead Ferns
- New potatoes
- Rhubarb
- Spinach
- Sugar Snap Peas
- Vidalia onions
- Zucchini
- Apricots
- Avocados
- Blueberries
- Kiwi
- Grapefruit
- Lemons
- Pineapples
- Strawberries
- Tomatoes

Linguine with Spring Vegetables

Get an instant taste of spring with this one-pot pasta. In 20 minutes, you’ll have linguine in a silky sauce with crisp-tender asparagus and snap peas.

Prep: 20 mins. Servings: 4

INGREDIENTS
- Coarse salt and ground pepper
- 3/4 pound linguine
- 1 pound asparagus (tough ends removed), cut into 1-inch lengths
- 1 medium zucchini, halved lengthwise (quartered if large) and thinly sliced
- 4 ounces sugar snap peas (stem ends trimmed), halved
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon butter, cut into pieces
- 2 tablespoons fresh tarragon leaves

DIRECTIONS

In a large pot of boiling salted water, cook pasta 4 minutes short of al dente; add asparagus, zucchini, and snap peas. Cook until vegetables are crisp-tender, about 3 minutes. Reserve 1/2 cup pasta water; drain pasta mixture, and set aside.

In the same pot, bring cream and butter to a simmer. Toss in pasta mixture and enough pasta water to create a thin sauce (it will thicken as it stands). Season with salt and pepper, and top with tarragon.
